THE PATTERN CAR OF THE YEAR

HERE now is a car which typifies the ideals of the time. This streamline body—this long, sloping hood—this absence of angle at the dash—this low-hung chassis—these crowned fenders—this placing of extra tires so the front doors are left clear—these things belong to the car of today.

The consensus of the world's best opinion is that this type of car marks the coming ideal car. These are radical changes but they are coming as surely as foredoors came—and as suddenly.

All the best foreign cars—English, French and German—will this year exhibit exclusively this new streamline body. And all men know what they adopt in body design becomes the world-wide vogue.

Our designers have added a hundred minor effects. They have Americanized—have Hudsonized the type. So the car is distinctive. There will be no other just like it. But it embodies what we regard as the highest conception of the modern trend in bodies.

And we believe that every connoisseur will consider this new HUDSON Six the handsomest car exhibited.

ENGINEERING PAUSES

We can claim in this car no great advance as regards fine engineering and no HUDSON owner expects it. Fine engineering has limits. For the past four years Howard E. Coffin and his able engineers have given their best to the HUDSON. Last year they brought Sixes pretty close to perfection. So close that the HUDSON Six jumped in one year into the foremost rank among Sixes.

These men have worked out in this new-model car a vast number of minor engineering improvements. They have added scores of new mechanical features—some of them quite important. But we never expect to build a much better chassis than we built in our last year's Six.

This year's advances lie mainly in beauty, in comfort, in conveniences, in room. We have combined the best in lines, finish and equipment with the best in engineering. We have succeeded in making the HUDSON Six the masterpiece it is.

NOW THE IDEAL CAR

We now feel that this HUDSON 54 offers the utmost in every wanted feature.

It has the staunchness of steel Pullmans. It has the comfort of Turkish lounging chairs. It has the speed of express trains. It is free from all the troubles which annoy the inexpert.

No man knows how to build a car more handsome and impressive. No conveniences are absent, no modern features lacking.

And all these things are here included in a Six 54, with seven-passenger body, at the record price of $2250 [f. o. b. Detroit, Michigan].

THE NEW FEATURES

These are among the new features we bring out in this model. No mention is here made of the countless features in previous HUDSON models which we still retain.

Seven-passenger body.
135-inch wheelbase.
Left side drive. Right hand control.
36x4 1/2-inch tires.

Extra tires carried—as never before—ahead of the front door. This leaves both front doors clear.

Four forward speeds.
Pure streamline body.
Low-hung body.
No angles at the dash.
Wide tonneau doors.
Gasoline tank in dash.

Electric self-cranking, with the rapid type of the Delco system built especially for this car.

Powerful electric lights with dimming attachment for city driving. They also act as ordinance lights.

Extra seats in tonneau fold into back of front seat, entirely out of the way.
Jeweled magnetic speedometer in dash,
with new concealed noiseless gears.

Every operation and control placed within reach of the driver's hand.
Gasoline and oil control, lights and starter.

Individual Yale lock and ignition control, prevents theft of car.

Rain-vision windshield built as part of the car.

Genuine Pantasote top. Curtains that are carried in the top can be instantly adjusted.

Electric horn—trunk rack—tire holders—license carriers—everything.

Will have one for demonstration within next ten days. Come and see this new achievement. It is not merely an improved car—it's a real innovation.
It will display to you all the best thought of the day in automobile designing. Catalog on request.

DUNLAY, TEXAS, August 14, 1913.
FLETCHER DAVIS,
Editor Hondo Anvil Herald,

Dear Sir:

I want to give you a hand-out from above the dam about our land business up here. The land owner is entitled to the market value of such land in the market, in which it is located. Now in the case of Boon Co. vs Patterson, 96 U. S., pp. 407-408 it was said by the Supreme Court and the jury was so instructed in the Seekatz case: "In determining the value of land appropriated for public purposes the same considerations are to be regarded as in a sale of property between private parties. The inquiry in such cases must be what is the property worth in the market, viewed not merely with reference to the uses to which it is at the time applied; but with reference to the uses to which it is plainly adapted; that is to say, what is it worth from its availability for valuable uses. Property is not to be deemed worthless because the owner allows it to go to waste, or to be regarded valueless because he is unable to put it to any use, others may be able to use it and make it subservient to the necessities or conveniences of life. Its capability of being made thus available gives it a market value which can be readily estimated.

The question is not what the value of the land is to the condemning party, or what its value may be to the land owner. The owner must be compensated for what is taken from him, and that is done when he is paid its fair market value for all available purposes and uses. See Lewis' Eminent Domain 3rd ed sec. 706. A distinguished author, speaking on the same subject has announced the rule in such cases in the following language, and the jury was instructed accordingly: The market value of property includes its value for any use to which it may be put. If by reason of its surroundings, or its natural advantages, or its artificial improvements, or its intrinsic character, it is peculiarly adapted to some particular use, all the circumstances which make up this adaptability may be shown, and the fact of such adaptation may be taken into consideration in estimating the compensation. The proper inquiry is, what is its market value, in view of any use to which it may be applied?

So many and varied are the circumstances to be taken into account in determining the value of property condemned for public purposes, that it is perhaps impossible to formulate a rule to govern its appraisal in all cases; exceptional circumstances will modify the most carefully guarded rule; but, as a general thing, we should say that the compensation to the owner is to be estimated by reference to the uses for which the property is suitable having regard to the existing business or wants of the community or such as may be reasonably expected in the immediate future. Now, my Dear friend, I wrote this to you so that if you wish you may put this in your next issue of your paper. It may help some man some day in some part of our County or State if put in the same position I am in now. This letter I am sending to you is part of Judge Maxey's Charge.

Yours very truly,
A. REITZER.

A Card from Representative Hornby.

MR. FLETCHER DAVIS, Esq.,
Hondo, Texas.

Dear Sir:

You will notice that the warehouse bill, introduced in the closing days of this session, was defeated, and I voted against same. This is a very lengthy bill, containing 90 sections, and would have taken at least two whole days to pass it through the House so there would have been absolutely no chance of its passing the Senate by Tuesday. It would also have sidetracked everything else on account of it. The bill would not have come into effect for one year, and as the Legislature meets shortly after that time, I think it wise for the people to find out about this bill and see if they favored it or not.

I am sending you a number of copies of the bill so that any of your readers who may be interested may secure a copy from you.

Wishing you and your valuable paper continued success, I am,

Yours very truly,

H. P. HORNBY.

We have several copies of the bill on file at this office and any one wishing to inform himself as to the contents of the same are invited to call and secure a copy. Mr. Hornby is to be commended for his stand—not against this measure—but against hasty and inconsiderate legislation which the passage of this measure under existing conditions would impel.—Editor.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by W. H. Windrow.

Make John A Business Man — Mary A Business Woman.

Most parents did not have the advantages of a Business Training at their door, and are not satisfied to see their sons and daughters go through life as they have without this training.

They want to see their sons become bright-eyed, keen, alert business men, able to figure rapidly and accurately, to spell well, to write a good hand; to be able to draw up notes, deeds and mortgages. They want to see them in business for themselves, or on a good salary as bookkeeper or office manager.

They want to see their daughters obtain a salary-earning education that will make them independent, or that will enable them to use wisely anything which they might have bequeathed to them. They want their daughters to have an insurance against any misfortune which might come.

It is to this class of parents that SAN ANTONIO BUSINESS COLLEGE appeals most strongly.

Send us that son and that daughter, and if there is a man in the boy or a business woman in the girl we will surely develop it.

Write today for catalogue, terms and pictures of successful graduates. Address: H. C. Mitchell, President, SAN ANTONIO BUSINESS COLLEGE, San Antonio, Texas.

So Many People Die of Blood Poison.

A little scratch on the hand a splinter or small abrasion of the skin is often fatal because the poisonous germs start the infection. That is where Hunt's Lightning Oil comes in handy as an application on the abrasion, kills all germs which may have lodged there, thereby preventing infection and death. It pays to keep this remedy in the home, especially where there are children. All drug stores in 25c and 50c bottles.

Women are not now being criticised so much for what they wear but for what they don't wear.

Stepping on a rusty nail has been the cause of many cases of lockjaw. The nail was not so much the fault as neglect of the wound. If such wounds were promptly cleansed and BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT applied there would be no lockjaw, as the antiseptic properties of the liniment would counteract the poison and the wound would heal quickly. "All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, red blood and we see those symptoms of nervous breakdown. It is not head work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Fortify the body now with

An Unpronounceable Name

By MARTHA V. MONROE

Two American girls stopping in Munich one morning asked their landlady what there was in the way of sights in the country round about. They had "done" the city, and it only remained for them to take in anything remarkable in the environs.

"The Wohlfarth schloss is a very old building," the woman replied. "It is not far from here. You will find it very interesting."

"Is it a ruin?"

"Oh, no! it is occupied by the Wohlfarths."

"Good!" said one of the girls. "We'll go. I'm tired of ruins and pictures of saints and martyrs being roasted on spidrons. Let's go, Belle."

"I'm with you, Rosie. I would like to see a real old castle that's kept up in modern style."

Alighting at a railway station, they asked the way to the castle of an official who showed them the towers rising above the trees within walking distance. He informed them that Count Wolfgang Wohlfarth occupied the castle and sometimes tourists were admitted to inspect it. On reaching it they crossed a drawbridge, passed under a portcullis and told the gate man in German, which they spoke tolerably well, that they were American tourists and would like to see the castle.

"Ich w w w w—"

"Can you tell us to whom to apply?" asked Belle.

"H h h h—"

The man broke down again.

"Poor fellow," said Rosie. "I suppose he felt to stammering by trying to pronounce his master's name, Wolfgang Wohlfarth. How would you like to be Countess Wolfgang Wohlfarth, Belle?"

"I'd rather be the countess without the Wolfgang Wohlfarth."

Both girls laughed, and just then a man came toward them in clothes that they supposed were livery. He bowed politely to the girls and waited for them to speak. They told him that they would be obliged if he would go to the count and get permission for them to see the castle. At the same time Belle put a silver coin in his hand. He put it in his pocket, replying that he had authority to show the castle to visitors and would be happy to do so in their case.

He seemed to be well versed in the history of the castle, showing them apartments the Emperor Charles V. and other notables had occupied, a tower that had been battered down and repaired in a war with the king of Sweden and no end of arms that had been taken in battle by the Wohlfarths of olden times. Indeed, for a lackey he seemed remarkably familiar with the history of Europe during a period that few Americans are not interested in. The girls, however, had been sufficiently educated to recognize the fact that the man made no historical blunders—at least none that they could detect. When they had finished the tour of the different objects of interest and they were about to depart Belle thanked the man and said:

"Please tell your master that we have been very much pleased with his castle. We are from Milwaukee, in the United States. If he ever comes to America I shall be happy to show him my father's home."

"Milwaukee?" exclaimed the man.

"Yes; we have a great many Germans in our city."

The man changed the language he used from German to fair English and said that the count had relatives living in Milwaukee. If the visitors would wait for a few moments he would like to ask the count if he would not wish to meet them. They assented, and he ushered them into a waiting room. Presently he returned with an invitation from the count to remain to lunch, then turned them over to a maid.

When the visitors entered the drawing room they were received by an elderly lady, who welcomed them graciously, though she did not speak English, and the girls' German was not readily understood by her nor hers by them. While they were chatting together in came the man who had shown them about the castle. He had doffed his livery, which was really a hunting costume, and appeared in the everyday dress of a gentleman.

"This is my son, Wolfgang," said the lady who had received them.

"And this is my mother, the Countess Wohlfarth," replied the young man. "She has a cousin living in Milwaukee, and therefore I presumed she would like to meet one coming from the same city."

"You are Count Wohlgang?"

The count smiled and begged her not to attempt so difficult a vocal feat as to pronounce his name. He then told the guests that he was about starting out to shoot in his preserves when he saw them and could not refrain from humoring their mistake in mistaking him in hunting costume for one of the servants. Then all went to luncheon.

The girls were invited by the dowager countess to make a visit at the castle, which lasted a week. The next year the count appeared in Milwaukee ostensibly to visit his cousin, but really to propose marriage to the girl who said that she would prefer being countess without the Wolfgang Wohlfarth. She was obliged to take all or none and swallowed the whole dose. Her American relatives have been trying to find a pronounceable abbreviation of Wohlfarth, but thus far have failed.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of extending our heartfelt thanks to all of our friends and neighbors for the many acts and expressions of kindness and sympathy extended us in our sorrow and bereavement.

Respectfully,
Mrs. ROLF FRERICHS
and children.

Rolf Frerichs.

Mr. Rolf Frerichs died at his home in this place at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening, August 18, 1913, after an illness of only a few days duration. After a brief service at the home and a funeral sermon at the Lutheran Church by his pastor, Rev. A. Falkenberg, at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, his remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery. The pall bearers were: Joe Ney, Geo. Muennink, K. Wantz, R. W. Richter, Geo. Leinweber and T. H. Reynolds. One of the largest crowds ever assembled in Hondo was present to pay their last respects to the departed.

The deceased was born January 5, 1832, at Aurich, Oldenburg, Germany. He had, therefore, reached the ripe age of 80 years, 7 months and 13 days. He came to America in December 1856 and settled at Quibi where he was married October 6, 1858, to Miss Anna De Grodt who came to America in December 1857. To this happy union ten children were born. Three of the eldest sons died in 1862, 1863 and 1864, respectively. Seven children are yet living. They are Mrs. And. Schuehle, Mrs. August Schuehle, Mrs. C. J. Bless, and Messrs. John, Henry, Fritz and Harm Frerichs. Besides these children and his aged companion, he is also survived by 23 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Frerichs engaged in the mercantile business at Quibi for a number of years, and in 1885 moved to Hondo where he continued in business for many years. Mr. Frerichs built the first cotton gin in Hondo and established the first city water-works for the town. He was also an active promoter of our present deep well and water works system and of the First National Bank of which latter institution he was a director when he died. He was always ready to assist with his influence and his means every movement for the up-building of his town and community.

The church ever received a generous support at his hands and besides contributing liberally of his means towards the Lutheran Church at this place, he advanced the loan of funds sufficient to make the building of the present church house possible at the time. No deserving cause was ever turned away empty handed by him.

A good man, a worthy and enterprising citizen and a good husband and father has gone to his final reward. He will be sadly missed.

The Anvil Herald joins in extending sympathy to those who mourn.

Paint Put-on.

Think of paint put-on and not by the gallon.

A gallon of paint in the can is of no account to anybody. Put it on. Now reckon its cost and value.

The secret is: one paint goes twice as far as another. A good one goes twice as far as a bad one.

You have a job, say an average job. It'll take 10 gallons Devoe and 12 or 15 or 18 or 20 of middling poor very-poor and trash. You know painter's wages in your town. Put the price of a gallon of paint and the painter's day-wage together. You can, we can't.

Devoe costs less than any inferior paint; there are hundreds of them.

One paint is as good as another, so long as it lasts good; one lasts months and another years; and the one that goes futherest lasts longest.

DEVOE

Holloway Bros. sell it.

TESTED SCHOOL SHOES

Look Better—Fit Better—Wear Better

"T E S S and T E D" school shoes have become famous for their style, finish and long wearing qualities. Four pairs will outwear five pairs of ordinary shoes made for children's wear.

Many shoemakers yield to the temptation to use substitutes for leather in children's shoes, because of the high price of leather, but we have built up our business by selling honest leather shoes.

Cut up a pair of "Tess and Ted" or any other "Star Brand" shoes and you will find that they have sole-leather heels, soles and uppers. No substitutes for leather are ever used. See No. 3139—a new model for boys.

Pure Shoe Legislation is pending in Congress and many states to protect you against fraud. We heartily endorse it. The rights of 100 million consumers are greater than those of a few hundred manufacturers.

"Tess and Ted" school shoes are made in a hundred different styles for boys and girls of all ages. They are designed to properly fit the feet of growing children.

"Tess and Ted" school shoes and over 700 other styles of "Star Brand" shoes are for sale by 20,000 good merchants. Don't just go into ANY store and ask for them, but come direct to our store. We are specializing on these famous shoes.

The name on the sole and the "Star" on the heel insures honest values.

"Star Brand Shoes Are Better."

FOR THE CHILDREN

Once Upon a Time.

"Grandma, I'd really love to know,
If you can speak in rhyme,
How many very years ago
Was once upon a time."

So spoke a little girl one day
At her grandmother's knee,
She had grown weary of her play
And waited for her tea.

Grandmother laughed, as if to say:
"Of course I'll speak in rhyme,
Ah, it was long before my day
This once upon a time."

"Before the days of Mother Goose
Or any nursery rhyme?
It's really not the slightest use
To seek that dear old time."

"The fairies lived in that glad day;
The bluebells all could chime.
It seemed always the month of May
In once upon a time."

"Jack killed the giant, golden geese
Laid golden eggs each day,
And Piper pined did never cease
His magic pipes to play."

"But if you really wish to seek
That once upon a time
You'll find it if you care to peek
At fairy tale or rhyme."

—Philadelphia Record

What is It?

This is a play that will please the children. Arrange chairs, one for each player, in a semicircle before a large blackboard. If twenty are present give each one a card with a number on it, numbering them from one to twenty, with a tiny pencil attached to each card. The name of the holder is written on the back. Pass around slips of paper folded and have each one promise not to tell what is written on his slips. The person in charge will then call a number, and each child must look to see what number is on the slip he has received.

For instance, if two is called the one holding the slip with that number will get up and draw on the blackboard a picture of the animal whose name is written inside his slip of paper, the others putting down on their cards the number called and writing opposite to it what they think the animal is which is being drawn.

After each person has been called and drawn a picture the correct list is read out, the children marking their cards with the ones they have correct.

The boy or girl who has the greatest number correct will receive a prize. The one guessing the fewest must have a prize for consolation. A Noah's ark or a toy donkey would be appropriate.

Snip, Snap, Snorem.

This game is played by any number with a full pack of cards. The players, having placed before them five counters as "stock," the cards are dealt in the usual way. The object of the game consists in playing a card of equal value with that of the next player. This snips you. If the third player has a card of like value you are snipped, and then if a fourth card is played by the following player you are snored—thus, say A plays a knave and B likewise plays a knave. A is snipped and places one counter in the pool. If C also has a knave B is snipped and pays two in the pool, and if D has the other knave C is snored and pays in three. The fourth, of course, is safe, because all the four knaves are now played. No person may play out of his turn, but every one must snip or snap when it is in his power.

When any player has paid into the pool his five counters he retires from the game, and the pool becomes the property of the one whose hand holds out longest. The cards are sometimes dealt three or four times before the game is decided. The deal is taken in rotation.

A Dog's Memory.

An English clergyman once owned a dog which was very much attached to him. When he was compelled to leave his country for a long sojourn abroad the clergyman took his devoted canine companion to the house of his friend. There the dog remained for about two years. Then the long absent owner returned, and arriving at his friend's house late at night, retired without having the dog called.

Early next morning the sleeping owner was awakened by the dog bursting into his bedroom and leaping upon him with the wildest demonstration of delight.

"How on earth did he know I had arrived?" asked the clergyman.

"Oh, sir," the valet replied, "it is the most curious thing! As I was cleaning your boots the dog recognized them, and I have not been able to quiet him till he saw where I was carrying them and rushed along with me to your door."

Conundrums.

What grows less tired the more it is worked? A carriage wheel.

What do they call lemons in England? Why, lemons, of course!

Guess why I bought this new tie? To wear, you silly.

Why is an old chair that has a new bottom put to it like a paid bill? Because it has been resented (accepted).

Why is it impossible for a person who flaps to believe in the existence of young ladies? Because with him every miss is a myth.

How can you make time fly? By trying a watch around the neck of a bird. —Philadelphia Ledger.

The Concerted Sneeze.

This can hardly be called a game, but it does very well for a stop gap. The leader tells a third of the company to say "Hish" together at a given signal, another third to say "Hush" and the remainder to say "Hosh," the result being the sound of a tremendous sneeze.

I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Baliard's Snow Liniment is a Healing Remedy for All Ailments of the Flesh of Man and Beast.

The speed with which this splendid liniment heals up a bad wound or sore has surprised and pleased those who were accustomed to the slower and uncertain effect of less powerful remedies. It mends the lacerated flesh so quickly that there is but little time lost from work. In relieving rheumatic pains, neuralgia, sciatica, it has done and is doing a wonderful work. Many chronic victims of these diseases have found to their great satisfaction that it cures an attack in a fraction of the time required by the ordinary treatment.

It is equally effective in the flesh ailments of animals. Owners of blooded stock value it highly for two reasons: It heals sores and wounds quickly, and leaves no disfiguring scars.

This remedy is needed in every home. If its great power and efficacy was generally known, no family would be without it.

Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per Bottle.

The Mexican Situation

The trouble in Mexico has developed one fact of importance in the U. S., and that is that both the Federals and Constitutionists are firm believers in Hunt's Lightning Oil the great American remedy for neuralgia, rheumatism, cuts, burns and other aches and pains. No wonder, since it makes the pain go away almost at once. All druggists sell it in 25c and 50c bottles.

Scratching For Fun

We would have great sympathy for those who have to scratch continually, if there wasn't a remedy for the trouble, but as Hunt's Cure is Guaranteed to cure or money refunded, it would seem that those who scratch do so just for the fun of it. It's a special remedy for Itch, Eczema, tetter, ring-worm, etc.

Program of the Medina County Teachers' Institute, to be Held at Hondo, Sept. 8th to 12th

County Superintendent's Announcement

The legal County Teachers' Institute for the white teachers of Medina County rural schools, and Independent Districts of Hondo, Devine and D'Hanis, will convene at Hondo, Texas, at 8 A. M., Sept. 8, 1913, and continue in session for five full days.

The laws and regulations of the State Superintendent, relative to Institute, will be strictly enforced. Every teacher who teaches or expects to teach in Medina County is earnestly requested to be present at 8 A. M. of the first day. Those who are present at the opening of the Institute, and continue regular and punctual at all sessions and faithfully perform all work required of them will be considered bona fide participants and will receive a full week's salary under their contracts, while those who absent themselves and are indifferent will not be paid for any of the institute time, and at the same time jeopardize the validity of their certificates.

The State Superintendent recommends "Sutton & Horn's School-Room Essentials" to be used by the Institute and each teacher is required to purchase a copy and be prepared to do efficient work. He also recommends "Foght's American Rural School" by The MacMillan Co., Dallas, Texas, price $1.25. In addition thereto I suggest that the following texts be studied: "Kirkpatrick's Psychology" and "Graves' History of Education." All of these are thoughtful, carefully written books, and should be closely studied by every teacher as a preparation for Institute work.

Every teacher come prepared and prove yourself a progressive, wide-awake teacher; come to improve yourself and benefit others; resolve to put your talents and energy into the Institute in order that you and others may become more thorough in the teaching profession. The Institute is held for the benefit of the school children of the county and for the advancement of the cause of education in Medina County. The teacher who is careless and inattentive to institute work is not a true teacher and is not giving her pupils, patrons, nor the county a "square deal".

A small registration fee of 50 cents will be charged each one to help pay the expenses of prominent educators of the state who were called to address the teachers of Medina County. Trustees, patrons, Mothers and Parent Clubs, students of the High Schools, and friends of the Institute are cordially invited to attend, submit questions and take part in all discussions.

The following committees are hereby appointed of which the first named is chairman.

1. Committee on Local Institute: Prof. L. H. Kidd, Prof. T. C. Hickman, Miss Annie Duncan, Prof. B. Harris.
2. Committee on Resolutions: Prof. Meadows, Prof. Alva Howard, Miss Annie Middleton, Miss Ruby Langford.
